109

By F. M. L.

Ol' 109 doesn't always believe the good things that happen, but am honored, in passing, to be invited to join an International Newspaper Promotion Association, some 800 dailies and weeklies in the U.S. and 18 other nations.

Wonder, in passing, if this means anything in Milam County.

Ideas in advertising and news are frequently more interesting to those outside our own circulation area. But ol' 109 has a hunch ideas are catching on quite well in Cameron and Milam County these recent years.

But we learn. They are interesting, apparently, to an organization headed by newspaper execs throughout the country.

We are loyal to our ideas as we are loyal to Cameron and Milam County. That's what put the Cameron in Herald.

So are many others, the numerous who have done so much for Cameron and Milam County.

Their success is, in great part, based on ideas, which will continue.

109-109-109

We want to congratulate the people who led and participated in the Milam County Livestock Show for the fine turnout of entries and calibre of competition.

It was easy to see that Milam youngsters are up on the latest methods of showing their entries or are learning technics which are up to the minute.

Someday, perhaps, the facility being discussed for such shows, as well as many other community events, will be available to give these youngsters the surroundings their work justifies.

109-109-109

Said the boss after looking over the contents of the suggestion box: "I wish my employees would be more specific. What kind of kite? What lake?"

TSTA Views New Proposals

Milam County teachers heard a review of legislative proposals to be backed by Texas State Teachers Association in their meeting Monday night in Rockdale. The teachers also discussed proposals in the report recently released by the Governor's Committee on Public School Education.

Hill, representative of TSTA state headquarters said the association was working on three proposals: Salary increase, sick leave and retirement ajustments.

Hill said the TSTA was asking for a $1,000 across the board annual salary increase for teachers. He pointed out that this school year Texas ranked 38th in the nation in average salary paid to teachers. He said a survey by the National Education Association showed Texas teachers pay is more than $1,000 below the national average. NEA said the national average was $7,908 and the average salary for teachers in Texas is $6,619. Base pay for teachers under the Gilmer-Aikin law is now $4,800.

Hill said the other two proposals would ask that sick leave be allowed to accumulate (under present law sick leave not used during a school year is lost) and that the ceiling of $8,400 be removed from the amount an individual can pay into the teachers retirement program.

In an informal discussion of the Committee on Education report, their was general agreement with most points in the report. Considered controversial is the proposal that school districts be combined for a minumum 2,600 students per district.

J. M. Moorman, Rockdale School Superintendent, opened the discussion by pointing out that "this joining of districts has nothing to do with the number of schools in a district, this would be entirely up to the local, elected board". H. D. Maxwell, Milam Co. School Superintendent remarked "If it (the report) becomes a law it will be the most progressive move for education since the Gilmer-Aiken law in 1949."

Next meeting for the Milam TSTA will be a dinner March 10 at Rockdale.

FLU YES, BUT MEDICS SAY NO HONG KONG

The flu continued to cause absentees in stores, offices and schools in Milam County this week, however no cases of Hong-Kong flu have been reported here.

Dr. Swift, director of the Milam County Health Unit, said actual confirmation of flu required a blood test, but they were classing the rash of illnesses here as an "influenza like" illness. The Health Unit reported that 150 cases of the flu were reported by doctors in Milam County last week and 90 the previous week. By mid-week 140 new cases of flu had been reported.

Dr. Swift said only a small number of flu patients had been hospitalized and that the length of illness varied from 3 days to a week.

Cameron schools showed an increase in absenteeism with about 200 children reported sick Monday and Tuesday. Fewer absentees were listed Wednesday as exams began. Absences in school however were blamed more on stomach virus, colds and other illnesses.

Dr. Swift said the influenza type illness seemed to be more contagious to adults than children.

A report from the Texas Health department this week showed only 43 confirmed cases of Hong Kong flu in Texas. None were reported in this area.

Masked Man Robs Rockdale Grocery, Binds Store Clerk

A masked gunman robbed the U-Totem store in Rockdale late Tuesday night, escaping with about $140 in cash.

Sheriff Carl Black said a young man dressed in sweater and jeans with a stocking concealing his face and carrying a 22 caliber gun, came into the store at 11:45 p.m. as store clerk Larry Stone was preparing to close. Black said Stone was forced into a back room where the gunman bound his feet and hands with adhesive tape taken from a front shelf at the store.

Stone told Sheriff Black that the man was about 6 feet tall and probably 25 to 30 years old. He said he was told to lie down in the back room and then bound with 1 inch, heavy tape. He managed to get up and call for help after the gunman robbed the cash drawer and left.

WEST SIDE STAIRCASE COMES DOWN

Workmen began dismantling the west staircase in Milam Courthouse this week as the first step in the first major remodeling program in over 30 years. An elevator serving the basement and all three floors of the courthouse will be installed in place of the stairs.

Huge sheets of plastic and wood barriers close off the rapidly disappearing bannisters and stairs, and county workers are treated to a deafening noise of bangs, knocks and hammering that "everyone likes" County Judge O. B. Harden said.

The elevator will make possible full use of the third floor. Offices for Social Security, drivers license and Veterans Service Officer will be housed in space once used by Grand Jury members. A long counter will divide the offices from a waiting room and rest rooms will be added. The County Auditor will also have an office on the third floor.

Entrance doors on the north side of the courthouse will be relocated to provide entrance to the offices, workroom and record rooms for the County Clerk. The north entrance will be closed off, a fact that will be appreciated by courthouse workers when a 30 or 40 mile per hour north wind is blowing. The doors swing wide open now when northers blow in.

New restrooms will replace the old basement ones and storage for lawnmower and tools will be added.

The courthouse was built in 1891, and was remodeled in 1939 when the clock tower was taken off the top. The exterior was sand blasted in the early '60s. The present remodeling job, besides adding more offices, will provide a great deal more badly needed storage space. Even the space between the elevaor and the west wall will be utilized for storage.

Headon Crash Friday Sends 2 To Hospitals

A two-car head on collision Friday sent two persons to hospitals with severe injuries.

Charges of aggravated assault with a motor vehicle have been filed in Justice of Peace Jess Brock's court against Vernon A. Jones, a Ft. Bliss soldier.

The accident occured about six miles South of Cameron on SH 36. Highway Patrolman Leroy Broadus said the 1969 Ford Vernon was driving crossed the center line and collided head on with a 1968 Dodge driven by Mrs. Carol R. McPheters of Waco.

Jones and Mrs. McPheters were taken to Newton Hospital in Cameron then transferred to Scott and White in Temple. Jones has been moved to the Ft. Hood hospital.

Hearing Set On Historic Bridge

The Texas Highway Department has scheduled a public hearing January 23 at Calvert to discuss construction of a new concrete bridge to replace historic Black Bridge spanning the Brazos River near Cross Roads between Milam and Robertson Counties.

The 68-year-old bride has been declared unsafe for heavy vehicles. Cross Roads now marks the end of FM 979 and the Highway Department proposes to extend the road to the Brazos and the new bridge which will be downstream from Black Bridge.

The meeting will be held at Calvert City Hall at 10 a.m. A legal notice of the hearing which appeared in The Herald December 12 and 19 advertising the hearing date as January 2 was in error.

D. A. Kittrell, resident engineer with the Department, said that the problems involved in maintaining the old structure for a landmark were "insurmountable." Expense involved in painting and continual repairs would be too great and the old bridge could collapse during high water.

Kittrell said the old bents, or supports, could be left in place for a historical marker and the Highway Department would construct a turn-out for other appropriate markers. He told The Herald that the present bridge was built in 1900 and is 370 feet long, with a clear roadway of 14' 4".

"The new facility will be an asset to Robertson and Milam Counties," Kittrell said, "and has all been made possible by a concentrated effort on the part of highway and county officials and interested citizens."

Representatives of the Highway Department will be at the hearing to discuss right of way acquisition, relocation assistance programs and the construction schedule with all interested citizens.

P&W Article Warns Of Pesticide Danger To Fish Resources

AUSTIN

"Our Endangered Earth," an article in the January issue of the Texas Parks & Wildlife magazine tells of the dangers of indiscriminate use of pesticides.

"...Unless restraint and intelligence bring about a more balanced philosophy, he (man) may find himself destroying the very Utopia he is trying to create," says Joe T. Stevens, wildlife biologist for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department and author of the magazine article.

Stevens says that on the surface, man's success in the chemical control of insects which cause disease and crop failure has been phenomenal.

"However," says Stevens, "beneath the surface, there is definite cause for concern for our future due to the widespread misuse of these pesticides."

"Agricultural pesticides pose an obvious threat to our fisheries resources not only because of the immediate susceptibility of freshwater fish to the toxin, but also because of delayed reactions. Texas waters can remain toxic from one to nine months after introduction of pesticides, and that which penetrates the bottom silt can be restirred any time and repeat the kill."

Higher Education Needs Outlined In Board Report

AUSTIN

Texas must take immediate steps to meet the growing needs of higher education, which promise to double in size and cost by 1980, the Coordinating Board for the Texas College and University System reported recently.

The growth projections were brought out in the "Blueprint for Progress in Higher Education," the Board's recommendations for 12 years.

"The average citizen has no idea caring for the massive educational system through the next of the magnitude of higher education," and executive leaders of Texas.

"Although higher education is already the largest industry in Texas, it promises to double in the next 12 years," he said. "Enrollment in public colleges and universities will increase by 102 percent, and private institutions will grow by 34 percent."

He said enrollment in higher education facilities will increase from 375,000 in 1969 to 707,800 in 1980.

To care for this growing mass of student population, Gray said, will take by 1975, a total of $401,-406,000 in federal, state and local funds for additional public facilities, and about $404 million in state funds annually for educational programs.

The "Blueprint for Progress" cutlined by the Board was the result of in-depth research and planning dating back to the creation of the Board in 1965.

The Board used three basic points in developing the flexible plan. It is designed to (1) care for the rapidly increasing growth in enrollment, while (2) providing a rising level of excellence in higher education, in (3) the most efficient and effective methods possible.

The Blueprint divides the higher education system in three component groups--community junior colleges, senior colleges with program expansion possibilities through first-level graduate offerings, and complex universities with program jurisdiction over doctoral-level graduate work and post-baccalaureate education for the professions.

The Board recommends creation of 53 community junior college regions, each an area where most of the community junior college students will come and where at least one junior college district is feasible during the next 20 years.

The Blueprint foresees junior colleges as basically commuting institutions with both technical - occupational programs and the first two years of baccalaureate education, to meet the needs of all students in the state.

The Board also recommends creation of six new senior colleges four-year institutions in San Antonio and Houston and upper - division colleges in Midland-Odessa, Corpus Christi, Dallas, and Houston.

Other senior college recommendations call for stabilization of enrollments in existing institutions and acceptance by the University of Texas System Board of Regents of the Southwest Center for Advanced Studies in Dallas.

To meet the critical needs of medical education in the state, the Coordinating Board recommends establishment of new medical schools in Houston and Lubbock, and increased enrollments at existing facilities.

In outlining recommendations for dental education, the Board noted that Texas has only one dentist for every 2,903 residents and only two schools to meet the growing needs for more dentists.

Establishment of a new dental school at San Antonio was recommended along with state help in expansion of Baylor University College of Dentistry to ease the dental problem.

Outdoors In Texas—

By Vern Sanford

Most anglers take along an extra spool of line for emergencies. And it's a great idea.

Usually this "spare" is unexpectedly needed to replace the line on your favorite reel or to add more line to the reel spool.

More often than not the need for line is real urgent. Often you run short of line or your supply runs out at a most inopportune time. Sometimes it happens right in the middle of the lake.

Adding line to a spool while afloat is no problem for Gene Aderholt. Gene is an Austin angler who has fished most of his life. He's used to solving his own problems.

Ever try to rewind a spool of line while afloat in your boat? It's not easy even if your buddy is with you to hold the spool. And its tougher yet if the water is rough. Besides you're wasting a lot of your and your partner's fishing time.

It's a real problem if you're alone, in the middle of the lake. Or at least we thought it was.

But Gene has the answer. It's a neat, fast trick if you know how! And Gene does.

He runs the end of the fresh new line thru the guide at the tip of his rod—then on down the rod through guide after guide—and under the bail of his favorite open-faced Mitchell 300 spinning reel. Next he ties this new line to the reel spool or the left-over line that's still on the spool.

Gene then gives the crank a turn or two to see that the line "spools on" properly, and quick as a flash, he's all set to fill the spool.

Question then is how he's going to single-handedly deep the line tension just right to "spool on" properly.

Gene does it so easy it's amazing. He simply tosses the new spool of fresh line (now tied to the reel spool) far out over the water. Then he begins to turn the reel crank.

What happens is almost unbelievable at first, that is until you realize what resistance water has.

As Gene turns the reel handle the floating spool of fresh line begins to rotate. Resting flat on top of the water the floating spool spins as the reel handle turns. Resistance of the water is enough to keep the line at just the right tension.

In a jiffy Gene's new line is transfered from the fresh spool to the reel spool, and Gene's back in business again.

He refuels that reel so fast it's hard to realize that the transfer has been accomplished, almost before it started. It doesn't take Gene three minutes to do the entire job and get back to fishing.

In fact Gene has convinced this angler that his emergency method beats the old two-person, pencil-in-a spool idea all hollow. Try it next time

Tips From Tippit

Speeders on many of our State's highways are being caught by VASCAR (Visual Average Speed Computer and Recorder), the latest weapon in the arsenal of the Texas Highway Patrol.

This small, computer-like device mounts in the front seat of the patrol car and is operated by a patrolman as he drives between fixed points. Then he clocks the speed of motorists passing between those two points. Pressing a third button on the VASCAR gives him the average speed reading.

VASCAR is in use in some 14 states and is being evaluated in 33 other states. A report on its use in North Carolina indicates a drop of one third in the fatality rate due to speeding for the month of December over that of the previous year when the device was not in use.

FFA PROGRAM AUSTIN REPORT AT ROGERS PTA

ROGERS

The Future Farmers of America Chapter of Rogers High School gave the program Monday night at the Rogers Parent Teacher Association meeting in the school cafetorium. Mrs. Edwin Psencik, president, conducted the business meeting and presented the program.

Buddy Allison, president of the FFA assisted by Donald Henson and FFA officers, presented the program.

During the business meeting, various committees gave reports of their work. Superintendent B. F. Harbour, legislation chairman for the local PTA, gave a resume of several legislation programs that will presently be presented to the Texas Legislature which convened in Austin Tuesday.

Harbour sumarized the program the State Board of Education, the State PTA, the Texas State Teachers Association, and then the high points of the Governor's Committee's report to Governor John Connally and the Legislature.

He pointed out that several recommendations of the Committee of Fifteen will probably be acceptable to most Texans, like the plan of re-codification of state education laws so that the laws might be more readily available to school people, and more easily understood; the plan on vocational and technical education; sick leave for teachers, pay raises for teachers, (there may be controversy here on the amount of the raises); more teachers and more state funds to help districts with large numbers of handicapped children; a state plan for teachers' aids for teachers, and adoption of a supplemental state aid program for dropout prevention and adult reclamation.

Among the recommendations where considerable differences are expected to arise, are the consolidation of schools into districts having at least 2600 students in average daily attendance, with some exceptions in sparsely settled areas; and the recommendation to enact a finance plan to equalize responsibility and effort, basing tax assessments on a statewide plan and on a plan known as Full Market Value.

Cost Of Selling Your House May Offset Good Sale Price

The increasing shortage of new and used houses on today's market has plunged the seller into an unusually advantageous position. Chances are good that acceptable property will sell quickly and at a relatively high price, says an Extension housing specialist. However, she warns that the cost of selling may offset a quick sale at a good price.

It costs money to sell a house, Mrs. Jane Berry, with Texas A&M University, says cost of selling a house today can easily run to 10 to 15 percent of the selling price, depending on how the transaction is handled.

Weigh the costs of selling a house carefully before establishing a definite selling price, Mrs. Berry recommends. An oved-priced house may remain on the market for a long time. A competent real estate appraiser can help determine fair market value of a home.

Mrs. Berry recommends using a lawyer experienced in real estate transactions; he can help avoid costly legal and financial mistakes. His fee may be figured on an hourly basis, by the job, or as a percentage of the sale price of the house.

Milbur Field Wildcat Production May Run 65 Barrels Per Day

The Milbur Field in south Milam County has gained another good well, with an estimated production of 60 to 65 barrels per day, according to a report early this week.

The new discovery is the Cabot Oil Corporation No. 1 H. H. Coffield. Location is on a 194 acre lease in David Houston survey about 8 miles southeast of Rockdale.

Cabot Oil Corporation, a Houston concern, scheduled the wildcat in November of last year, but apparently encountered delays in drilling the test and it was not completed until a few days ago. Permit depth was 4,000 feet, and it had the basal Wilcox as its objective.

The Coffield is located 2,620 feet northwest of the Clark Oil & Refining Company No. 1 E. A. Cotton which was brought in as as a good producer in November, 1967. Its discovery extended the Milbur field about six miles to the southwest and across the Milam line into Burleson County.

The No. 1 Cotton attracted a good deal of interest from oilmen and geologists and was thought possibly to open up a new producing area in the field. However, further drilling by Clark Oil & Refining results in dry holes and interest waned. The Cabot No. 1 Coffield apparently has gotten back on the trend in the field.

Opt For Modern School . . .

Proposals for updating and consolidating schools should have an interesting time. And Texas schools should benefit by the Legislature's action.

We can now only suppose what legislators will do.

But it could take this path:

Class B schools, whose districts are economically insecure and academically wanting, will be merged with larger AA and AAA districts.

Then Class A schools, which even now continue to lose enrollment while they reach out further for smaller common districts to absorb, will be consolidated after that.

In Milam County, for instance, a one-county district for school administration and economics would be sound. The Cameron District would be little affected and that favorably.

But for academics, it would have questionable merit to consolidate all high schools into one, bussing practically all students up to 25 miles a day and back again.

A central technical school for high school vocational and industrial training might be the answer if a central school is needed for specific work.

Rockdale and Cameron are growing and can anticipate additional class - room need before rural influx. With consolidation with smaller schools, the need for more classroom space and travel time accomodation would commend at least two high school districts within the county and perhaps three junior high schools. Grade schools could remain throughout existing Class B school communities or larger.

The purely rural community school is all but gone in Central Texas.

One administrator advises that schoolmen across the state see the proposed consolidation plan's acceptance.

All tend to overlook the reason for strengthening schools by consolidation: The students, both as people and citizens of a community.

If we calculate how many are being educated for residence in Milam County, we must realistically know the heavy percentage leave. Those who stay will need technical training for industrial and vocational work. This can begin at the secondary level.

Most of those leaving will require college education preparatory course or specific preparation for technical work in all manner of business and institution.

For both the student staying in or leaving Milam County, consolidation should be a help. But parents and community leaders won't like the prospect of closing schools, truly community centers.

We believe greater consideration of why those schools operate will cause a large majority in Milam County and every county in Texas finally to opt for reason and for a modern school plant and faculty in Texas. And we think the Texas Legislature will reflect this thinking.

What Others Say . . . .

No Innocent Bystanders . . .

The most profound words spoken by Dr. S. I. Hayakawa during his face to face confrontation with anarchists at San Francisco State College were to the good, not the bad students.

Shouting at good students watching a confrontation the diminutive acting president declared: "Move on to your classes. There are no more innocent bystanders."

Although they disagreed with the anarchists, the good students by their very physical presence were obstructing police and lending the weight of numbers to the demands of the revolutionaries.

The crisis in the United States of America today is of such great magnitude that there are no more innocent bystanders anywhere today, not on the campus, not in the churches, not in government or governing boards of our institutions, not in the neighborhoods, not at the polls and not at work.

A person who fails to raise his voice or give his support to the enforcement of the law is not an innocent bystander.

A person who does not stand in back of his city council when it is taking proper if sometimes unpopular action is not an innocent bystander. Nor is a person who does not tell the council when it is wrong.

Nor is a person who appeases wrong because it is the easiest thing to do an innocent bystander.

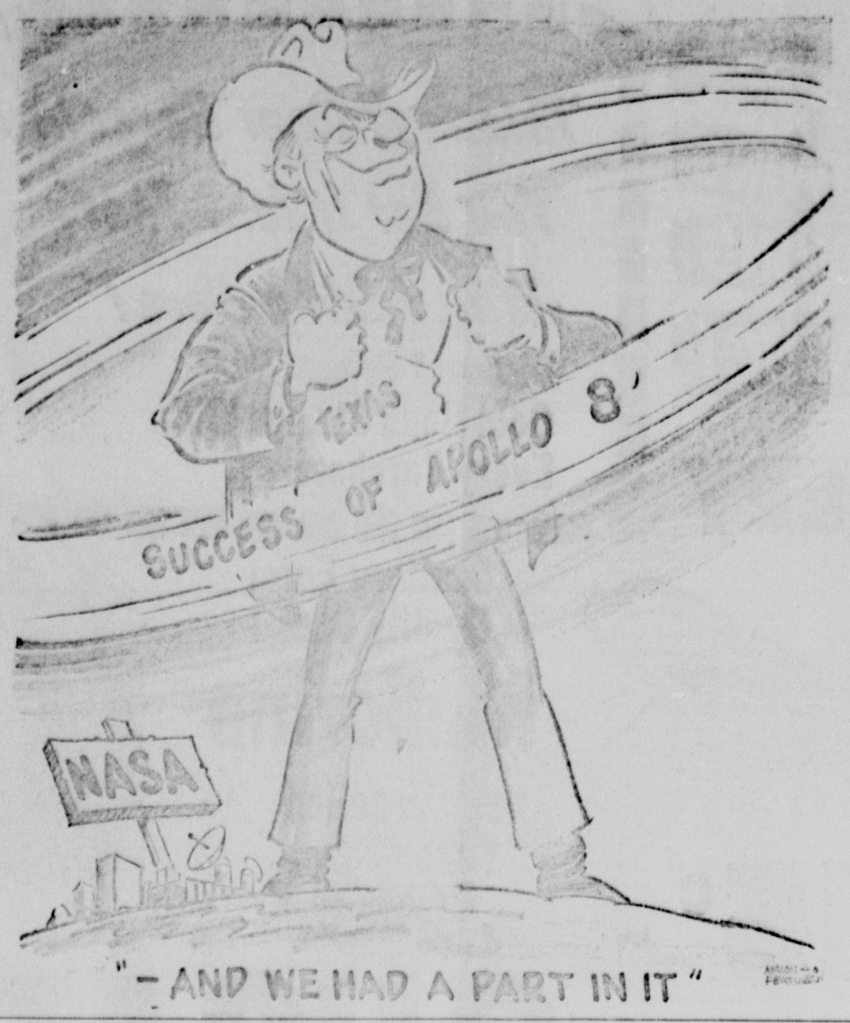
There can be no innocent bystanders when anarchy is searing the land and overt sedition is rampant everywhere.

Those who commit anarchy are guilty of subversion in the first degree. Those who look without speaking or acting are accomplices.

As a revolutionary would say, "You are either a part of the solution or you are a part of the problem."

It is time to make a stand.

—The San Diego (Calif.) Union



OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editar:

I don't like to be considered as being against progress, as a matter of fact I've always wanted a tractor with disappearing headlights and a car that'd run for ten years on one small block of atomic energy, with tires that grew thicker instead of thinner and a hood that'd re-shape itself every year to keep up with the styles, so don't get me wrong when I question a space scientist's peculiar argument in favor of exploring the moon.

According to his argument which I read in a newspaper last night, going to the moon is exactly as important as Columbus' discovery of America, and the people who are questioning the 24 billion dollars it took to get there are the same type of people who questioned the few thousand dollars it took to get Columbus across the ocean and back.

Understand, I think we ought to keep on exploring space and I think the three astronauts who made it to the moon and back are genuine heroes, but you reckon the human race will get the same return on the moon trip as it did on the Columbus trip?

Twenty thousand dollars to open up America was a good investment, but 24 billion to open up the moon? Have you seen the pictures of that air-less ball of rock?Or, as one of the astronauts put it, that "big bunch of nothing"? The moon has spacious skies all right but it's short on fruited plains.

I'm afraid the space scientists are using the wrong arguments. They're going to have to go beyond the moon and find something better before they're up on the same financial level as Columbus.

If Queen Isabella had taken a mortgage on everything Columbus discovered and all his heirs and assigns, do you have any idea what she'd be worth today?

She failed to do it, though, and Washington wound up with the mortgage.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Gulf and Western Industries Inc. lost its bid to buy controlling interest in Sinclair Oil Corporation when stockholders of Atlantic Richfield and Sinclair agreed to a merger, says the U. S. District Court here.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES

Texas laws which permit officials other than the governor to call out state military forces, including the National Guard, without the chief executive's prior approval are unconstitutional, says Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

Independent school districts may borrow money from its school depository if a member of the school board is an officer in the bank, providing the board adopts appropriate statute and the officer-member does not vote on the contract.

Houston has fire, safety and police power over the Harris County-Houston Ship Channel Navigation District within corporate limits. Harris County may enforce all state laws in the district, and either the city or the county may bring suit under Texas' clean air or water quality (anti-pollution) acts.

Dateline Austin . . .

Austin 'Back To Normal' As Lawmakers Open 61st

By Vern Sanford
AUSTIN

Now that the Legislature is back in session, Austin is back to normal. At least it seems normal for Austinites and veteran lawmakers. But 30 of the 34 new members of the 181-member Legislature still are about as confused as a lost child at the state fair.

Two "new" House members know their way around very well indeed -- Doyle Willis of Fort Worth formerly served in both House and Senate, and Glenn Kothmann of San Antonio also is making a come back.

Sen. W. E. (Pete) Snelson of Midland served in the Senate in 1965-66, then was redistricted out of business and defeated by former Sen. Dorsey B. Hardeman of San Angelo. Last year, however, Snelson turned the table for a return match in the upper house. Sen. Ronald Bridges of Corpus Christi was a long-time House member before he defeated the late Sen. Bruce Reagan.

For the other 30 newly-elected legislators it's a brand new ball game. They began work in the usual maelstrom of activity, trying to learn the names and faces all at once of 151 other lawmakers. Also, about the same number of full-time lobbyists, some 300 secretaries and committee clerks, and more than 100 state officials who work with the Legislature.

Texas' stately old Capitol finally has been renovated to provide offices for all members. But finding these offices and committee rooms, scattered all over four stories and basement of a block-long building, is not easy on any newcomer.

For the first couple of weeks, most new members walk everywhere with a diagram of the Capitol in one hand and a list of members' desk numbers in the other.

Activity at the session really to participate in the Inauguration Mutscher and Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes appoint their committees. And Mutscher has said he won't get to that until about the last week of January. So this first week the big excitement is the upcoming inauguration of Gov. Preston Smith and Barnes.

INAUGURATION

Governor Smith expects more than 4,200 persons in about 100 marching and performing groups to participate n the Inauguration Parade down Congress Avenue at 3 p.m. Tuesday (January 21).

At least three times that many will be dancing in six inauguration balls for Smith and Barnes that night. But the Inauguration won't be all frolic. A 7:30 a.m. prayer breakfast at the Terrace Motor Hotel starts the big day. Inaugural ceremonies then take place at noon.

GAS STORAGE SAFETY

Rep. Charles Jungmichel of La Grange says his House State Affairs subcommittee will ask the Legislature to pass a bill requiring that all service station gasoline storage tanks be located underground.

Recommendation resulted from several subcommittee hearings around the state on recent explosions and fires caused by storage tanks. As the proposal now stands, service stations with above-ground tanks would be given six months to comply with new safety regulations.

MIGRANT SCHOOL PROGRAM

Eight summer weeks of all-day school would be offered the children of migrant workers under a federally-funded migrant school program approved by the State Board of Education.

High school-age students would attend regular summer schools, with the federal government paying tuition fees for families who cannot afford them.

An estimated 11,500 children of migrants would participate in the $1.6-million summer school program.

APPOINTMENTS

Ben R. Howell of El Paso was named chairman of the state board of education, Paul R. Haas, Corpus Christi, vice-chairman and Paul G. Breenwood, Harlingen, secretary. Dr. J. W. Edgar was named to a new four-year term as commissioner of education.

Dan S. Petty is Governor-elect Smith's director of planning coordination.

Outgoing Gov. John Connally, racing to clear his desk, turned loose another flood of appointments. Among them were the following:

Dee J. Kelley, Fort Worth, J. Johnson, Amarillo, and Bernard G. Johnson, Houston, to the board of regents, state senior colleges;

Randall C. Jackson, Abilene, re-appointed to the State Securities Board;

Carl C. Anderson, Waco, judge of the 54th district;

Mrs. Jack T. Bowman, San Antonio, Mrs. E. L. Green Jr., Pampa, and Frank B. Appleman, Fort Worth, re-appointed to the Board of Regents, Texas Woman's University;

BOYS SCHOOL PROBED

A House investigation committee marched up the hill and back down again in exploring charges of brutality by guards at Gatesville-Mountain View School for Boys.

Juvenile Delinquency panel headed by Rep. Vernon Stewart of Wichita Falls aired allegations in a public hearing. After House Speaker Ben Barnes ordered an en-the-spon midnight check, lies detector tests were ordered for complaining inmates.

Stewart acknowledged two days later that polygraph tests showed the boys were not telling the truth. Guards said they used only what force was necessary to disarm youths of homemade knives after they tried to escape.

Texas Youth Council said the ill-timed probe was damaging to its efforts. Barnes agreed TYC had been unfairly tried in the press. He recommended better pay for school guards more counseling services for inmates.

COURTS SPEAK

State Supreme Court refused to alter an intermediate court order directing re-trial of a suit brought by the widow of a Pasadena doctor against his onetime hospital partners alleging malicious prosecution.

High court upheld Henderson County real estate man's claim to a $6,574 commission on the sale of property on which he had exclusive listing. Decision concluded unenforceability of contract is no defense to action for tortuous interference with its performance.

Court of Criminal Appeals reversed four-year sentence given a Beaumont woman for assault to murder because the jury doubled punishment under state law authorizing extra sentence where a knife is used in attack.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on Federal tax matters is provided by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayer.

Q.-Where can I get copies of the new tax forms?

A.-Most taxpayers should receive their income tax forms in the mail early in January. Forms will also be available at local IRS offices as well as in many post offices and banks.

If you received a form in the mail, please use it when you file your tax return. It contains identifying information to help avoid mistakes that delay processing and refunds.

The Form 1040 tax package that you received in the mail has a two-part pre-addressed label that shows the taxpayer's name, address and Social Security number. If you do not use the form sent you, peel off the top label and affix it on the form you file. The Form 1040A is pre-printed with the taxpayer's name, address and Social Security number.

Q.-Were there any changes in the tax law last year I should know about when I file my 1968 return?

A.-Adoption of a surtax in 1968 is the major change. This surtax will increase the amount of income tax most individuals will pay for 1968 by 7½ percent. A special has been added to the tax table to help taxpayers make this calculation and it is explained in the instructions that come with the tax forms.

Q.-Do I have to include Social Security benefits when I add up my income for the year?

A. Social Security benefits are not taxable. However, they do have to be included when determining if the support test has been met for a dependent.

For example, if a widow had no other income but Social Security benefits of $1,200 during 1968 and she spent it for her own support, it will be necessary for anyone claiming her as a dependent to provide more than $1,200 towards her support for the year.

Q.-Where can I get a copy of the new Farmer's Tax Guide, Publication 225?

A.-Contact your local IRS office or county agent for a free copy.

Q-I want to get my return in as soon as possible so I can get my refund. Do I have to wait until my boss gives me my W-2? I have my own record of wages and tax withheld.

A.-A copy of your W-2 form must be attached to your tax return. Many taxpayers had their refunds delayed last year because they forgot to do this.

The law requires employers to issue W-2 statements to their employees by January 31. Many issue them sooner so you should have your W-2 Form shortly.

Q-I don't think my medical expenses were more than 3 percent of my income in 1968. Does that mean I can't deduct my Blue Cross payments?

A.-One-half of your medical insurance premiums up to a maximum of $150 may be deducted even though your total medical expenses do not exceed 3 percent of your income. Therefore, you may deduct part of your Blue Cross premium if you itemize.

Information to help you figure out your medical expense deduction is given on page 7 of the 1040 instructions. Mistakes in handling medical insurance premiums occurred frequently on tax returns last year. To avoid mistakes, read the instructions carefully.

Bell's Appeal Denied By Criminal Court

The Court of Criminal Appeals overruled a motion for a rehearing by Johnny Lee Bell of Rockdale who was sentenced to two years for assault with intent to murder October 11, 1967.

Bell was charged with the assault of Charlie Gipson of San Antonio at Clark's Place in Rockdale June 18, 1967.

County Atty. John B. Henderson Jr. said Bell was transported to the Department of Corrections at Huntsville on January 7.

MRS. W. FALKNER IS PRESI-ELECT OF GARDEN CLUB

Mrs. John Sapp was hostess at her home and Mrs. J. F. McCrory was co-hostess when the Civic Garden Club met for their regular meeting last Thursday. During the social hour the group enjoyed doughnuts with coffee.

During the business session the following officers were elected to serve for the 1969-70 year-Mrs. W. E. Falkner, president, Mrs. Leo Fuchs, vice president, Mrs. John Sapp, secretary, Mrs. Elliott Crook, treasurer, Mrs. John Ryan, corresponding secretary, Mrs. W. M. Fanning, historian, Mrs. R. G. Grabein, parliamentarian.

Mrs. W. C. Falkner, program chairman, introduced the program which was in observance of Arbor Day. Mrs. McCrory gave the history of Arbor Day in this state, some other states, and in some foreign countries and quoted Roosevelt "A country without trees is hopeless." In the many uses of trees she noted their use for aesthetic value, shade, bird sanctuarys, memorials to noted persons and many commercial uses. Long ago the Aztec Indians planted a tree for each new - born in their tribe. She stated Luther Burbanks request was - "Do Not Erect A Monument - Plant A Tree".

Mrs. John Sapp gave a list of trees well adapted to this region. She listed the red cedar and several others. In broad-leaf evergreens, the Southern Magnolia, American Holly, and the Live Oak. In the deciduous group (trees which shed their leaves in the winter) are the Black Walnut, White Oak, Burr Oak, American Elm, Cedar Elm (most common in Texas) and the Gumelastic or chitumwood. She painted out that the Hackberry is the least desirable tree since the seeds harbor worms and the tree requires an unusually large amount of water and the roots feed near the surface of the ground. Mrs. Sapp listed the Cycamore tree as the one most free of disease.

Civic Garden Club members will plant a tree at a time and place to be announced.

Mr. Magre related Jackson's personal, religious and humorous habits, along with his accomplishments in battle. Mr. Magre's unique and interesting manner in the delivery of his subject added much interest to the program.

Mrs. Martin served a refreshment plate consisting of congealed cherry salad, sandwiches, party crackers, nuts, mints and hot spiced punch, to 15 members and two guests, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Magre.

Cold Water Washing Prevents Stain Set, Eases Laundry Care

Cold water washing boasts several advantages: it boosts washing and ironing ease and is safe.

Researchers have found cold water washing followed by tumble drying at the standard 160 degrees F will produce little or no bacterial contamination, reports Wanda Meyer, home management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The washing method produces less wrinkling, especially of washable polyester or nylon knits and permanent press items that wrinkle, if washed in hot water and spun dry.

Mrs. Meyers adds that cold water washing prevents certain stains from setting. Stains such as milk, egg, blood and other protein types can become permanent if washed in hot water.

But, she adds, grease and oil stains are better removed in hot water.

Using cold water lessens the danger of shrinkage, especially in knitted fabrics, chino pants and some un-Sanforized items.

Cold water washing also saves hot water for other uses, points out the specialist, and the washing compounds may be used in hot water. In fact, Mrs. Meyer says they are good in case of heavily soiled items in hot water washing.

'NERVOUSNESS'

Readily responds to chiropractic care.

Many people are unaware that nervousness might be due to a physical disorder. By and large the nervous patient is aware of his nervousness but wants to blame it on such things as overwork, pressure of personal problems, or just believes it is his nature to be nervous.

Such persons often undergo needless suffering and expense that could have been avoided if they had had chiropractic care at the beginning of their nervous symptoms. In many instances nervous disorders may readily be traced to some personal tension or emotional disturbances and they may disappear when this cause is removed. But when the nervousness is due to some organic disorder it is virtually impossible to relax and become calm regardless of how hard we may try.

Chiropractors find that irritations of the spinal nerves and muscles are one of the prime causes of nervousness. Spinal adjustment in most cases offers effective relief and often permits nature to bring about a correction of the condition.

Chiropractors remove tensions and nervousness by locating and removing the spinal nerve irritations which cause them.

You too may be suffering needlessly. Investigate! What can you lose but your nervousness?

Texas Is Looking For Rural Hero

Texas is looking for a rural hero!

This person will receive the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council's Rural Heroism Award during the Texas Safety Association meeting, March 31, in Houston. The award is presented annually to a deserving person, living in a rural community of 2,500 or less, who has risked personal life or injury in performing a heroic act.

While it specifically honors one individual for exceptional bravery at a time of crisis or disaster, the safety program points up this highly important objective: the continuing need for improved safety conditions in our rural areas--at work, at home and at play.

The award may go to a person credited with pulling another from a flaming building, saving a drowning person or any other such feat of heroism. Anyone knowing of the performance of such an act during the past twelve months is urged to submit a nomination for this important award.

Nominations should include a narrative of the heroic incident, giving complete details. It should include the names of all persons involved, and should be accompanied by clippings and pictures if they are available. The award recipient will be chosen by a panel of judges, based on the material submitted by the nominee.

Deadline for entries is March 1. They should be mailed to: Rural Heroism Awards Committee, Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, P. O. Box 489, Waco, Texas

McDermott Steers Competing In Show

5 Million Vehicles Due Inspection; Deadline April 15

The 1969 vehicle inspection period began September 1, 1968, and Texas Department of Public Safety reports slightly more than one million of the six million vehicles requiring inspection have received the 1969 tag. Deadline is April 15.

The new inspection tag is a two and one-half inch replica of the DPS Patrolman's badge on a red background. Motorists are urged to have the inspection performed as soon as possible. This will put them ahead of the deadline and also insure that their vehicles are mechanically safe for hazardous winter driving.

Texas law requires inspection of brakes, lighting equipment, horns and warning devices, mirrors, windshield wipers, front seat belts in vehicles where seat belt anchorages were a part of the manufacturers original equipment, steering (including power steering), and wheels and rims on all motor vihicles registered in Texas.

Inspections may be performed at any one of the nearly 5,500 vehicle inspection stations in Texas. Minmum fee is $1.75 regardless if the vehicle passes or fails the inspection.

DPS reminds motorists that an inspection now may correct conditions which could cause an accident during winter when bad drivng conditions often exist.

Control Grazing For Good Use Of Winter Pastures

COLLEGE STATION

Winter pastures can be better utilized if they are grazed less, Dr. J. Neal Pratt, Extension agronomist at Texas A&M University, reminds livestock producers.

Most winter pastures such as small grains contain high amounts of protein and other nutrients and continuous grazing is usually unnecessary for beef cattle. Approximately one or two hours of grazing per day is sufficient for a beef held on medium growth pastures, he adds.

"Grazing every third or fourth day is also a good practice to follow. Research has shown that limiting the amount of grazing for beef cattle can more than double the profits to livestock producers," Pratt says.

The agronomist points out that it is a different story for dairymen and in many cases stocker producers. In such enterprises where most of the animal product is marketed, winter pastures can be used to a greater extent.

Free choice feeding of high-quality hay is usually recommended and can mean extra days of grazing and profits from winter pastures.

Ample fertilization can help raise the usefulness of winter grazing land. Pratt advises producers to start thinking now of topdressing if additional grazing is on the slate for the early spring. A soil test is the best way to determine fertilization and limestone needs, he concludes.

SUNFLOWER MOTH

An agreement between the USDA and the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station has resulted in a $42,930 research project to study the sunflower moth. The insect is a major problem in the production of commercial sunflower seed in Texas.

QUARANTINE INSPECTORS

Agricultural quarantine inspectors work with other Government agencies at the Nation's airports, seaports and border crossings to keep out destructive foreign plant and animal pests and diseases.

Town Country

Details Told For Care Of Orchard

By J. D. Moore

Peaches, plums, apricots and other fruits grow better on soils with a p.h. of 7.0 to 7.5. What is meant by the term p.h.? Technically, this relates to the "hydrogen ion" concentration of the soil. In everyday language, this term refers to the acd or alkaline condition of the soil.

A soil testing below the range of 6.5 p.h. is considered acid and should be limed to "sweeten" the soil. The ideal plant nutrient utilization occurs on soils with a p.h. range of 7.0 to 7.5. Our blackland soils have a p.h. range of about 8.0 which is considered alkaline. For this reason large amounts of organic matter should be worked into these soils.

Special attention must be given to the addition of a source of "iron" along with the commercial fertilizer. Iron is present in the black soils but is not available fecause the high lime content "locks" up the iron particles.

Look for nematodes. These are tiny worms which attack the roots of fruits and vegetables. They appear as "knots" on the lateral roots of these plants.

Should soils be treated for nematodes? Yes, for best results soils should be treated with the chemical vapam at the rate of 1 quart to 100 feet of row space. Fruit trees are budded on resistant root stocks which usually carry the label "nemaguard" root stock. Such peach trees are available. A 6X6 foot area could be treated for each peach tree.

To treat the soil area where a fruit tree or vegetable garden is to be planted, spade or disk up the area and treat with vapam. In followng the manufacturer's directions with vapam or V.P.M., cover the treated soil with a plastic film immediately following application, and leave the cover in place for at least 14 days for maximum effectiveness.

A soil test is your best guide for using fertilizer. However, a balanced fertlizer such as 15-15-15 plus iron and other trace minerals hould be used at the rate of 1 lb. per inch diameter of the tree trunk.

At the time of planting young fruit trees, they should be cut off at a height of 18 to 30 inches. Remove all lateral branches that arise below 12 inches from the ground. Cut back the remaining branches to short stubs, each having one or two buds. This brings the tree into balance with the root system and forces the tree to develop strong shoots.

When pruning second year old trees select scaffold branches by leaving 4 to 5 wide-angled branches well distributed around and up and down the truck. At the end of the first year growth, cut out all shoots and lateral branches except the selected scaffold branches. Trees will need further training to force them to grow in an "upward" and "outward" direction. This can be done by removing or cutting back lateral branches. At least a third of the previous season's growth may be cut back each year without limiting the fruit yield. This agent likes to "top" fruit and nut trees to prevent excessive height, make the tree stronger and easier to harvest the crops.

Peach trees usually start bearing some fruit the third year. If a good scaffold system has been established, the trees will need only light, corrective pruning for several years.

The mature trees reach their most economical height (8 to 10 ft) when they are 6 to 8 years old. After reaching this height, the trees require fairly heavy pruning to keep them low and promote the development of well distributed fruit bearing wood.

Fruit and nut tree spraying is very important and the various schedules are printed in the leaflet L-245, available at the county agents office. Those not able to pick these up may request them through the mail.

County Government Conference Planned For February 5-7

COLLEGE STATION

The Eleventh Annual Conference for County Judges and Commissioners will kick off here Feb. 5 with programs designed for all concerned with county government. It will be held at the Ramada Inn and attendance is expected to range from 150-200.

The Feb. 5 - 7 Conference is sponsored by the County Judges and Commissioners Association of Texas and the Agricultural Extension Service. In announcing the conference Extension Director John E. Hutchison said the program would feature speakers and panels on subjects of primary importance to the conferees.

Judge J. C. Davis, Jr., Assistant State Attorney General, will address the group along with Dr. Kenross Wright, Commissioner of the Texas Department of Mental Retardation and Mental Health. Wright will present new information regarding the treatment centers and admission policies.

Hutchinson also said that personnel from Texas A&M University's Transportation Institute will discuss soil stabilizers, road base material and other topics of interest to members of County Commissioners' Courts.

County agricultural agents have been supplied with other information and registration material for those planning to attend the annual three-day meet.

Episcopalians Set Diocesan Council

Clergy and laity representing All Saint's will join with delegates from Episcopal churches throughout the 57-county Diocese of Texas to conduct church business at the annual Diocesan Council January 30-31 and February 1 in Houston.

The Rice Hotel in downtown Houston will be headquarters for the Council which will hold its two business sessions there. The Opening Service, held traditionally the first night of Council, will take place at St. Luke's Methodist Church in Southwest Houston.

ASCS

Some new provisions have been added to the Small Farm Program regulations for 1969. Small farms (farms with effective allotments of 10 acres or less or with projected production of 3600 pounds or less) will be eligible for the Small Farm payment on 35 percent of the effective allotment even if no cotton is planted on the farm.

The farm is not required to divert any acreage or plant any cotton to qualify for payment. If cotton is planted the farm will also be eligible to draw a price support payment.

In order to qualify for any payments under the cotton or feed grain programs producers must sign up. The sign up date begins February 3 and ends March 21. Notice of bases, yields and payment rates will be mailed to producers prior to the sign up date.

All wool producers who sold wool or unshorn lambs during the 1968 marketing year are reminded that they have until January 31 to file applications for the incentive wool program payments.

Get W-2 Forms To Employee By Jan. 31

Employers were reminded today by the Internal Revenue Service that employees should receive two copies of withholding Statement, Form W-2, on or before Friday, January 31, 1969.

A. P. Andrews administrative officer of the Internal Revenue Service at Temple, said, "This statement shows the total wages paid and the income tax and Social Security tax withheld, if any, during the calenday year 1968."

Total wages shown on an employee's W-2 must include amounts received as sick pay. Sick pay is not required to be shown separately.

If it becomes necessary to correct a W-2 after it has been given to an employee, a revised statement must be issued and marked "corrected by employer."

Sorghum Club Cites Mode For '68 Yield

Troy Mode of Cameron, with a dryland yield of 4,182.68 pounds of sorghum per acre, has been entered in the 1968 DeKalb Sorghum Masters Club.

Mode's yield came from a field of DeKalb F-61. His entry was mechanically harvested and verified by an impartial third party.

To attain his yield, Mode used management pramtices of fertilizing according to yield goal and controlling weeds and insects.

He planted at a seeding rate of seven pounds per acre. His fertilizer application included 91 pounds of nitrogen and 30 pounds of phosphate. Weeds were controlled with Propazine and two cultivations.

Texas Places Second In Defense Contract Work, Tower Says

Senator John Tower, a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said today that Texas remained in second place among the states in amount of defense contract work during the 1st quarter of fiscal year 1969 (July - September 1968).

Newly released figures for defense contract work during the 1st quarter period which ended September 30, show that Texans contributed 10.3 percent of the nation's defense contract work during that year at a total of $1,082,974,000. That kept Texas ahead of New York which did 9.4 percent of the work and second only to California, which did 22.2 percent.

Senator Tower said the FY-69 1st quarter figure for Texas represents an increase over that period in fiscal year 1968 of $204,944,000.

These Countenances

Upon the shoulders of these mighty men fell responsibility when America needed guidance. Character is the trademark on each face. Of course, they were humble, profound men and their words the golden threads which hold our Democratic system of government together. True Godliness, firm statesmanship and real Americanism is written over their badges. They were firm, steady leaders of the greatest country on earth . . . America. These stalwarts provided leadership all Americans honor and claim heirship to. These three symbols of faith, vision, and forbearance made our country great . . . they are Washington, Lincoln, and Lee. Then Americans, be proud. Attend church and worship God. Thank Him for these Countenances and for every blessing we have in Free America.
